Bonds And Progress

EDITORIAL

The catchy slogan "Let's Make it Unanimous", which was adopted by the Richmond harbor bonds campaign committee sometime ago, seems to be quite literally accepted, according to pledges of all kinds of support and co-operation that reach campaign headquarters from day to day.

The committee says that harmony is running unanimity a close race for first position.

INTERESTS BACK BONDS

Interests of all kinds and folks in every vocation are backing the bonds.

Politics, religion, race, color, personalities, all are giving way before the demands of Progress.

"Let's have a harbor that's in line with our claim to being the fourth pay roll city in California," said one hearty taxpayer who visited headquarters yesterday.

HELD SMALL OUTLAY

This citizen took his pencil and did a little figuring on his own account, and reached the conclusion that $690,000 in forty years is a very small amount for a city of 30,000 to spend for harbor improvements and construction of warehouses that will be big enough to take care of the cargoes that will move through Richmond.

"There are five votes in my family, and they will be cast for Richmond's harbor bonds," was the parting cheering remark made by this citizen who is a pioneer here.

The Builders Exchange of Contra Costa county at their luncheon meeting gave unqualified endorsement to the harbor bond issue.

OTHER ENDORSEMENTS

The Missouri Club went on record in favor of the harbor bonds at their meeting yesterday. Mrs. W. O. Clark is president and Mrs. Ethel Jewett, secretary.

The Richmond Rotary Club gave unanimous endorsement at their meeting yesterday.

Pep And Enthusiasm Factors In Sending Voters To Polls

Red fire, Richmond's Municipal band, eight troops of Boy Scouts, Camp Fire Girls and a motorcade a mile long are some of the scheduled features of the "Big Parade" which the campaign committee of citizens in charge of the harbor bond campaign promise for the night of Thursday, August 18.

George Bengley, of the Richmond police department, will be field marshal, and will have a corps of aides that will be colorful and effective.

BOOST BOND DRIVE

A. A. Hart and W. S. Darrell of the Richmond band are perfecting a program of gay and tuneful airs that will put pep into the marchers and make the welkin ring with slogans boosting the bond issue.

The tentative line of march is from Twenty-third street down Macdonald avenue to First street, where the parade will rest for a few moments. Thence to Point Richmond for a snappy concert near the natatorium, thence to Roosevelt auditorium, where the evening's program will be given.

MASS MEETING

The mass meeting will take the form of a frank discussion of the issues involved and to be decided at the polls.

The committee promises the public that there will be good speakers who will be versed fully on the vital and essential parts of the (Continued on Page Five)

Local People To Make Additions

Peter Accornero will add a rear porch to his house on the east side of Waller avenue between Thirty-seventh and Thirty-ninth streets, at a cost of $200, according to a building permit issued yesterday by City Building Inspector A. J. Hurley. L. Accornero will do the work.

Alice Carpenter will put a patent flue on the outside of a building on the south side of Chanslor avenue between Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets. Mrs. Ed. Weber will add a porch to the rear of her house on the east side of Thirteenth street between Roosevelt and Clinton avenues.

Judge Grover Moves Court To New Site

Justice of the Peace L. F. Grover of San Pablo has moved his court from 900 Alvarado street, where it has been located for the past several years, to 1400 Alvarado street. The new location is near the Carquinez Inn.

TWO GOTHAM SUBWAYS BOMBED

POOR CUPID HARNESSSED AT LAST!

When Clarence C. Gardella, 441 Thirteenth street, and Miss Alice E. Piper, of Windsor, Sonoma county, applied for a marriage license last Monday and became the first couple to register in Contra Costa county under the new state law, several cynics shook their heads and declared that the wedding would not be. Who, they argued, will wait four days to get a marriage license?

But Gardella and Miss Piper did. Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Wesley Methodist church they will be married by Rev. Charles G. Lindemann, pastor of the church, and will win another honor, that of becoming the first couple to marry in Contra Costa county under the new state law.

The new ruling requires that a declaration of intention to marry be filed three days prior to the issuance of a license. County Clerk J. H. Wells yesterday issued the first license under the new law to Gardella and Miss Piper, the necessary time element having elapsed.

THREE NEAR DEATH AS RESULT OF BLAST: PLOT ATTRIBUTED TO SACCO VANZETTI PROTEST

TUNNELS BELCH SMOKE AS THEATRE DISTRICT IS ROCKED BY FORCE OF HIGH-POWER BOMBS

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—Two subway stations in Manhattan were wrecked shortly after 11 o'clock tonight by bomb explosions.

The explosions coming just when the theatres were letting out caused a furore as they were felt for a mile around.

SUSPECT COMMUNIST PLOT

The first explosion took place at the Twenty-eighth street station of the R. I. T. Hundreds of policemen hearing the explosions rushed to the scene.

The second explosion took place in the 28th Street station of the D. N. T. All subway street and elevated traffic was demoralized as huge volumes of smoke belched forth from the tunnels.

The shock of the explosion was felt plainly at Forty-second and Broadway, where thousands of people were coming out of the theatre.

FIRORE OF EXCITEMENT

Panic was averted but there was a furore of excitement as most of the fire apparatus in Manhattan was rushed to the scene of the explosions.

Windows were smashed for blocks around while huge holes in the pavements testified to the strength of the bomb.

As far as can be learned no one has been killed but several were badly injured.

TRAIN HITS BOMB

The explosion in the R. I. T. subway was caused when the first car of the trains hit a bomb.

The car was hurled from the tracks, badly injuring the motorman. There was only one passenger in the car and he suffered severe injuries.

The explosion in the D. N. T. is believed to have been caused by a time bomb. It went off near the ticket booth and the woman ticket seller was injured.

CLIP COUPON, YOU TOO MAY HAVE "IT"

"It's a boy!" that was the story to which the majority of spectators snuck yesterday afternoon when upon the surprised eyeballs of Macdonald avenue habitués burst a vision, dressed as girl—but, oh, my, how different!

"She hasn't got 'it,'" said one man of the world, nonchalantly lighting a cigar in which there are reputed to be a whole carload of coughs. "Dress is too long," declared another.

"Look at that walk—It's for straightforward." And so on.

The "vision" proceeded unembarrassed up Macdonald accompanied by two, who were undoubtedly, according to those who witnessed the begonia, of the feminine gender.

"Her" hair was combed back to reveal a grand piano finish. "But" avowed spectators "there was one thing that was absolutely right and that was the air of mystery. Good? Oh boy."

It may have been, and the again, it may not.

Official Paper Of The City Of Richmond, California

FEDERAL GOVERNMENT SETS GOOD EXAMPLE

In his budget speech at Washington on June 10, President Coolidge said:

"One of the greatest safeguards of this nation financially, socially, and morally, lies in constructive economy in government. It will do much to defeat attempts to undermine our traditions and disrupt our institutions."

"Economy does not mean the neglect of essentials; rather does it mean adequate provision for them by elimination of all waste. It gives the added protection which comes from the means to meet a time of emergency."

"The federal government has set an example not alone to other governments in this country, but to other nations, in the practice of economy."

Jules Sauerwein, noted French editor says that Austria is about to be annexed by Germany and that something will have to be done about it. Here will be a fine opportunity for the League of Nations to get out one of its famous injunctions.

A Colorado newspaper says that ninety per cent of the people of that state now approve of Uncle Sam's having remained out of the League of Nations. And it's our guess that it would be a little difficult to find all of the other ten per cent.

The government reports a probable shortage in the corn crop this year, but if not a single ear were grown, the bootleggers would show up with just as much "corn" liquor as ever.

Everytime we think of that poem about Maud Muller and the meadow raking we wonder what she would be doing if she were here today.

MARRIAGE PROBLEMS

Here is the problem of the restless wife. The sooner she realizes that life is not a perpetual picnic and makes up her mind to take the bitter with the sweet the better it will be for her. On the other hand, an occasional word of praise from the husband would go a long way toward clearing up the situation.

Says the WOMAN

Dear Patricia Lee:

I have been married two years and have a sweet little girl, a fairly nice home, but I am not happy. Perhaps you think I should be grateful for the gifts the gods have given and let it go at that, but I think I should be getting a little happiness out of life and some consideration from my husband. I find housework tiresome and I am not a domestic. It is just one day of drudgery after another. I wouldn't be so bad if I got a word of praise now and then, but my husband takes all my good work for granted, and you should hear him complain if I make a mistake. I think it most unfair. I am only 20. What shall I do? Please don't scold, for I really am very unhappy.

BESS T., Los Angeles.

Sit down, Bess, and have a heart to heart talk with yourself. Look at the situation fairly and squarely. It is just life you are facing. Work, worry, disappointment, sorrow, come to the highest as well as the lowest, and you can't expect to escape the human lot. Doubtless you do find your work irksome and monotonous at times. So does every one. Why, you need not think for one second that the business man does not get sick of the daily grind; that the actress does not tire of her lines; that the writer doesn't literally have to drag himself to his typewriter sometimes. And your husband pays no attention to your good work, but dwells upon your mistakes. Well, Bess, that is also the common fate of all workers. If you were a bookkeeper and made one single mistake the boss would make a bigger fuss over it than he would over years of perfection. If you were a writer or an actress, all of your good work would be forgotten at the first sign of weakness. So cheer up, Bess. Don't you see it's just human nature—just life?

The average man's casual attitude toward marriage is one of the queerest things about life. He wouldn't even buy a car or a house without trying to find out something about it. Yet, because a girl is pretty, dresses well, dances well, he marries her and thrusts to luck and the marriage ceremony to turn her into a suitable companion for life. And the funny part is that sometimes it works!

LEARNING'S SEAT

Carefully the tramp climbed the steps of the large house and, arriving at the top, rang the electric bell.

"The door opened and the occupant of the house, a professor of music, stood on the threshold.

"Excuse me, sir," began the tramp, bowing politely.

"Have you any worn-out clothes?"

"I have," answered the professor.

"What do you do with them?"

"I fold them carefully and hang them over a chair over night," replied the professor kindly.

"And then in the morning I brush them and I have to put them on again!"

How To EARN MONEY at HOME.

By Sara Spence

I am running a clipping bureau from a hint you gave me. I can't tell you how much we enjoy the work, my husband and I. We work together at it evenings. During the day I clip the papers alone. It pays us well.

I am so glad. It is a very good business and you have discovered that people like to get the printed notices of themselves. Try the foreign papers also.

I want to do work outside my home as a seamstress.

Why don't you go to a summer resort near by for the season. There is always a demand for a woman who can do odd sewing jobs. I think you could make a lot of money. Leave your car at the desk of any big hotel and offer the management a commission—or way outright for the privilege. I think the job of lady's maid in a hotel would pay a lady who could sew, mend, darn, etc.

I am considered very pretty. I want to get into the movies. Don't be vague, but tell me exactly what to do.

Go to a photographer and get pictures of yourself in many poses. This is to ascertain if you film well. Then take them to any producer of moving pictures—if they are good—and ask him to give you a tryout. If possible go to a photographer who will take a movie film of you.

How can I get into the movies? AMATEUR.

Go to a photographer who takes motion picture films. There are many advertised. Get him to take a film of you. You will see, then, if you film well. Now you are ready to see a producer and get him to run off the film on his screen. This is the quick way to do it.

Mrs. Sarah Spence will answer all questions on "How to Earn Money at Home." Address her care of this paper.

What Your FACE TELLS

©c.1927- by Betty Morrison PSYD.

A brunet is any person who has a predominance or great amount of pigmentation in the body, and who is distinguished by the darkness of hair, skin and eyes.

The concave face is associated with the brunet.

The characteristics of the brunet are sentimentalism, submissiveness, patience and affection in proportion to his degree of darkness.

Brunets have a tendency to worry. They take life seriously and often become discouraged. They live in the realm of finer things and are kind and superstitious. Breaking a friendship causes the brunet much grief and often they are many years getting over a love affair. Brunets are slow in placing their affection, but when it is once anchored it is deep, and they will often hear them say, "I don't know why I love you, but I do."

To persuade the brunet, give your ideas slowly; let him have time to think them over and concentrate upon them. His word is usually good.

The brunet likes detail work. Is fitted by nature for such work as engraver, social worker, minister, teacher, machine operator, clerical work, music, art and literature. Concave brunets will underestimate their ability. They do not like to push themselves to the front but like a quiet, easy life.

Concave brunets make excellent partners, because they are both affectionate and patient, but are apt to become careless in dress and appearance in middle life, and drift with circumstances.

They should express more self-confidence and remind themselves often that they are capable and dependable.

Count Your Hairs, Girls, If You Wish To Keep Them

The hairs of your head are numbered!

Yes, lady! Some one has estimated that the number is 100,000. Some of us have more, but most of us, sad to relate, have less. And that's because most of us don't take the care we should of those we have.

The hair is constantly changing. It grows old and falls out. Another takes its place—or should it! The scalp is healthy. A new generation of hairs is always growing up—like a continual procession of a human generation.

When the number of new hairs does not come along fast enough to take the place of the old ones—that is when the danger signal should be hoisted.

Care of the scalp can prevent this. A good quality of unscented soap should be used in shampooing. Through years of experience, I have found that as a general rule around shampoo, castle soap of the very purest grade is the best thing.

Be sure that the soap is carefully rinsed out.

After careful drying, a scalp massage with the tips of the fingers will stir the scalp circulation and stimulate the growth of the hair.

The choice of a comb is another important factor. A wide tooth comb is always best. Be sure that the comb does not have rough and sharp edges between the teeth, so that the hair is not pulled and broken.

When a Man Loves

one in his own way but nevertheless a word.

It was dawn before they turned in at Tiberge's lodgings to discuss the future.

CHAPTER XIII

In the south of France was, and probably still is, the great Chateau Des Grèux where Fabien spent his early youth as the favored son of devoted parents.

It was a rather austere and well ordered home radiating dignity and supreme respectability. With the time that Fabien was a boy soldier in the church choir it was planned that he should some day become a Priest. Consequently, it is easy to picture the sorrow and disgrace that descended upon his Mother and Father and brothers when word came that Fabien had forsaken his vows to live a life of shame with some unknown girl in Paris.

Tiberge was a life long friend of the family and went to them with the hope of assuaging their grief. "Your son is not lost to you, Sir," he said, "Perhaps even now he repents of his boyish folly."

"Every ambition I had was centered on him," tonelessly replied the grief stricken father. "He has betrayed my faith and broken his mother's heart."

For a moment Tiberge stood with bowed head, then with the slight he continued, "But his natural piety will outlast this whim of the senses."

"I wonder—I wonder!" reflected the Father.

"It is true, sir. You need worry no more about Fabien. He has at last given up all thought of Maunon, and is entering St. Sulpice to resume his studies for the Priesthood."

A wonderful sense of peace and relief spread over the fine old gentleman's face. "Thank God," he said fervently. "When you return take him our love, our blessings and our forgiveness."

When Tiberge delivered this message, the repentant son was deeply grateful and it lifted a great burden from his soul. He deeply loved his family and now that the harrowing incidents of the past few months were over, it was difficult to understand how he had been so completely forgetful and neglected them.

However, Fabien's resolve to re-enter St. Sulpice came only after a tremendous struggle to forget the Maunon he loved and the perfidious woman he thought had become. In the end it was Tiberge who persuaded him to renounce the pleasures of the world and enter into holy orders. The plan also suited Fabien's changed outlook on life. He imagined himself entirely free from the dangers of love and honestly believed he had reached the stage in life where prayerful meditation was worth more than the gratification of his earthly appetites. Even those he had enjoyed with Maunon.

Fabien was determined to lead a holy and christian life with the hours so divided between study and religion that there would be no leisure for the perilous pleasures of love. He was convinced that he had lost all esteem for Maunon. Yet her image, with its exquisite features, was engraved on his very heart's core and would always remain uneffaced. He was, also, positive that no other woman could tempt him because he detested them as a class and as individuals he did not care to even converse with another.

For nearly a year now, Fabien had been devoting himself to study. His peace of mind was restored. His past contact with love enabled him to understand many passages in the classics which had been previously obscure, and he looked upon the world with new eyes—eyes that saw in the beautiful influence of the Church another life extending into the years ahead. In this other life the memory of Maunon would be consigned to eternal oblivion.

The time was drawing near for Fabien to take his public examinations in theology, and at such events it was customary for the names of students to be posted so that the public could attend if they were interested.

It happened that Maunon saw Fabien's name in this connection and lost no time in availing herself of the opportunity to attend. Ladies were forced to sit in special seats behind a screen so that Fabien had no idea of her presence. Every day for a whole week she was there, watching and waiting, longing for a chance to see and speak with him privately. To be examined and Maunon's wish remained ungratified. She knew that Fabien was to take his final vows on the following day, and as her whole future happiness depended upon seeing him before that time she determined to throw convention to the winds and seek him out at the Church. Her love was not dead, in fact it had matured until it was the only thing in her life.

After leaving the gambling room, Fabien calmly walked outside of the building and with studied deliberation tipped the doorman. He overcame the desire to collapse by tensing every muscle and forcing his legs to move.

Faithful Tiberge emerged from the shadows where he had been waiting ever since Fabien entered the Club. He knew that his friend would be disillusioned and greatly in need of a guiding hand before the night was over, and he had appointed himself for the task, knowing that it would be both difficult and thankless.

Sensing Fabien's anguish, Tiberge followed and gripped him tenderly by the shoulder. At the touch of a comforting hand Fabien's control gave way. All of his pent up emotions broke loose and for a moment he rested against Tiberge, taking all the support that was offered.

"You were right," said Fabien simply. "I was tortured and admitted that meant the end of all earthly happiness."

"No wonder he looks crucified!" thought Tiberge. Although he had never experienced Fabien's emotions or known a woman's love, he understood the pangs of sorrow and suffering and knew the welcome sympathy that comes from silent sympathy.

The two men went down the street, arm in arm, thinking—each

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 4.—Mike and Ike, to say nothing of Ivan, Fritz and Francis, soon will look alike, according to Dr. Arthur W. Jensen, addressing the progressive chiropractic convention today.

Due to increasing inter-marriage he said, there is a decided trend toward more uniform facial features of the various white races. In time, he said, a standardized physiognomy for the white races is to be expected, as inter-marriage increases through better understanding and improvement of travel facilities.

Engagement Of Josephine Bareilles Announced At Pythian Birthday Party

When the solution of a cross word puzzle has been worked out at the surprise birthday party given by the Pythian Sisters No. 113 in honor of Miss Josephine Bareilles, it was found that Miss Bareilles had celebrated her birthday by announcing her engagement to Frank Lambie of Richmond.

Miss Bareilles is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Bareilles of 526 Ripley avenue. She has been the bookkeeper for the Richmond Steam Laundry for many years. Mr. Lambie resides at 601 Ripley avenue, and is one of Richmond's leading painting contractors.

The temple presented Miss Bareilles with a bouquet of sweet peas and a gift of silverware. Just after the announcement of the engagement Mrs. C. Slosio rendered "I Love You Truly." The rest of the evening was passed with whist and other games. The hall was decorated in pink and white, and the table favors followed out the same color scheme.

The winners at whist were: Mrs. Lela Osborne, C. E. Hutson, and Mrs. Nellie Hutson. A story writing contest was won by John Opman, and a guessing game was won by Mrs. R. Foudy. Refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

Among those present at the party were: Messrs and Mesdames L. Michel, H. Donnelly, J. Opman, S. Caldwell of Long Beach, W. R. Tish, J. Bareilles, H. J. Hill, A. L. B. Foudy, C. Hudson and P. M. Back to the Schoolroom

Going to school is to the children what business is to the grown-ups. It means hours of labor each day and concentration upon the subjects they specialize in. The diligence with which they apply themselves to their studies while in school, will determine the success they attain, the same as the success of men in business depends upon their application to their work.

This Bank is interested in the children, and in seeing them receive the advantages now offered in the public schools.

TOM MIX PLAYS STELLAR ROLE AT CALIFORNIA

There's one motion picture star who, no matter how good one production may be, always follows it up with a better picture.

We're referring to Tom Mix, the face of Western stars, who breezed into town last night in "The Last Trail," the picture produced by the Fox Film Corporation, will run until tonight. If you enjoy something away from the so-called beaten path, you will see it.

"The Last Trail" is a screen version of an outstanding novel by that outstanding novelist, Zane Grey. It's a grand old story of the sort that really and not literally makes you grasp the arm of your seat.

The "Last Trail" is an illustrious example of why Mix has one of the largest followings ever enjoyed by any theatrical luminary. And his latest film will increase that following, for we're wrong.

The action of the film opens with Tom portraying an Army scout on his last journey. A desperado gang that makes a special of looting stage coaches figures in a large part of the action. Tom's encounters with the gang in question form the basis for most of the breathtaking action.

We are probably safe in saying that Mix has never displayed his ability at horsemanship to better advantage than in "The Last Trail."

Lew Seiler, who directed the production, showed good taste throughout, weaving and blending his situations in fine fashion.

Carmelita Geraghty plays opposite the star. Others in the cast include William Davidson and Jerry the Giant. And, of course, that great part of the popular star's equipment, Tony, the wonder horse.

Other features include "The Merry Month of May," a screen version of the O. Henry story, "Ko Ko Packs Up" and International News.

BUCK JONES' LATEST FILM AT RICHMOND

A treat for the youngsters, and we mean youngsters in spirit and not in years, greeted those who saw the first showing of Buck Jones' latest Fox Film feature, "Hills of Peril," which had its first showing at the Richmond Theatre last night.

This is Buck at his best. It is a wild, hard riding western thriller, jammed with action, danger and fun and pulsing with life.

It's a great story, told about a young cowboy who goes wild and practical jokes get him into all kinds of trouble and his adventures with a band of "red" bad men, a gang of moonshiners who terrorize the country and who think that Buck will make a good, bad member of the gang.

Then there is the part played by Georgia Hale, who believes that Buck is as bad as the rest when he joins the moonshiners to discover who killed the sheriff. But it all ends very happily as it should end.

And we think the playing of little Buckle Harrie, in the role of the dead sheriff's son and the only friend of Buck who is in the secret of Buck's real reason for joining the gang is exceptional. The picture is taken against a background of California hills and surpasses many a scenic in pictorial value.

Other film features include "Tell 'Em Nothing," a Charlie Chase comedy, and Felix the Cat in "Icy Eyes."

Clearlake Oaks Abounds In Beauty And Beauties

"Little Place Near Water" For Ideal Vacation Retreat Now Within Reach Of All

You, like other alert human beings, have always wanted a "little place near a lake"—a "dream home every summer"—a different home away from home—a vacation nook near a shady stream—with all the joy, sports, delights and happiness always associated in your mind with such dream-places. Perhaps you have felt that such a dream could not come true! Perhaps you thought you'd have to stay always in the same old house in the same old street in the same old town—and that only millionaires could have two homes, one of which would be in a glorious summer paradise.

But the RECORD-HERALD believed that it was possible to make your dream come true! It can come true!—This very day!

WIDE INTEREST MANIFESTED IN VACATION SITE

Wide interest is being evinced in the announcement that summer and vacation sites at beautiful Clearlake Oaks Homesites have been placed within the reach of even those in the most moderate financial circumstances by arrangement made by the Richmond Record-Herald.

This unusual offer, by which the cost of these ideal vacation lots is reduced and the terms are cut down to little more than merely nominal payments, is open to both old and new subscribers of the Richmond Record-Herald. Full details of the offer are being printed in the issues of the newspaper at present. The offer is open to all six months subscribers, old or new, at regular rate.

Clearlake Oaks is situated in Lake county, 50 miles inland and at an elevation of 1255 feet. The beautiful lake is 25 miles long with some six miles of ideal community beach, in which each property owner has an undivided interest. This property is situated in the heart of the beautiful lake region that is destined to become the playground of all northern California. Aside from the desirability of the property as a vacation retreat and summer home-site, it is extremely valuable as an investment alone, as prices, very low now to subscribers of the Richmond Record-Herald, are bound to increase rapidly.

Mineral springs abound on the property and this pure water is piped to each lot. The property is covered with large oaks, manzanita and pines. The Clearlake Oaks Homesites property is readily accessible, all roads leading to it being under state supervision and the Lake Tahoe-Ukiah highway running through it.

Many coves and sheltered beaches afford attractive playgrounds for the children. Temperature of the water is about the same as that of Waikiki beach at Honolulu in the summer and in the winter it is about 57 degrees. Clearlake Oaks offers boating, swimming, and every vacation delight and convenience. There are many noted resorts within short drives. Cool summer breezes blow all summer long and there is no fog.

Call at the Record-Herald offices or mail the coupon published daily for additional information regarding this unusual offer.

Lud Johnson, Rotarian and well known as a singer, is going to lead in community singing and will give some solos. Emil Esola will control the keys of the piano.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—A 10 or 20 year building program, designed eventually to give the United States a navy "second to none" will probably be recommended to the next congress by the Navy department, it was indicated today.

With the collapse of the Geneva arms conference, officials now believe themselves justified in asking Congress to carry out, in part at least, the program recommended by the Navy general board last year after completing one of the most exhaustive studies of American naval needs ever attempted.

This report was based entirely on the needs of the navy under the 5-5-3 ratio adopted at the Washington conference in 1922 and did not concern itself with any mythical armaments race with other powers. The report recommended construction of the following vessels:

Seventeen 10,000 ton cruisers in addition to the 18 now either built or under construction, making a total of 35 in all. Eighteen destroyer leaders of about 2500 tons each, or one for each destroyer division.

Sufficient submarines to replace those now obsolete or obsolescent. Three or four aircraft carriers, totaling 69,000 tons, the amount allowed the United States under the Washington treaty.

Because the collapse of the conference was so recent, Secretary Wilbur today declined to comment on what the Navy will recommend to Congress, beyond stating that it will be the subject of conferences within the department and with budget officials during the next few months.

Tomorrow, however, he will start his vacation trip to the Pacific Coast, stopping en route to pay his respects to President Coolidge at the summer White House in the Black Hills. While there, it is believed he will discuss with the president the needs of the fleet and the construction program which the administration should sponsor this fall.

OVATION GIVEN PRESIDENT BY DAKOTA CROWD

By JOHN N. LAMBERT,
Universal Service Staff Correspondent.

DEADWOOD, S. D., Aug. 4.—President Coolidge received the greatest personal demonstration in his twenty years of public life here today upon his first public appearance since he declared he will not run again.

Twenty thousand people arose and cheered him to the echo as he motored into the local amphitheatre in the hills during the famous Deadwood Days of '76 celebration and grand carnival.

Cowboys shot off their six-guns. More than 300 chiefs of the Sioux tribe garbed in their aboriginal finery made the welkin ring with their warwhoops. A cannonade of ancient but loud lunged musketry followed.

Another deafening cheer sounded through the hills as the president rode around the half-mile track. When he left his car and took his seat in a box in the grandstand, "three cheers for Cal Coolidge" were proposed and given with true western heartiness.

Today's demonstration seemed to be for Calvin Coolidge rather than President Coolidge. All previous outbursts in the Black Hills as well as in other sections of the country had been largely stirred by respect for his office. The monster crowd here today seemed moved by the sportsmanship of his refusal to run again while at the zenith of his career. Those who formerly suspected that he had come to the Black Hills to promote political strength in the west seemed moved by a genuine appreciation today that he had come merely to live among them to gain rest and recreation from his arduous duties.

President and Mrs. Coolidge arrived here early this afternoon after a three hour train ride through the magnificent mountains. They were accompanied by their secretaries, the members of their official family and Senator Norbeck and Congressman Williamson.

Pure Drama To Have Chance On New York Stage After Period Of "Oh My" Plays

(By Universal Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—All signs and portents on the historical horizon augur that the new season will prove a period of purity, of sweetness and of light. The so-to-speak successful engagement of several noted thespians on welfare island, the closing of three or four specimens of high and low browed drama and the holy war against the hatchet men of box office and agency—all these events promise permanent reformation.

Of course there are, as always, The cynics and sceptics. They assert that what Broadway needs is not so much penalties as plays. To punish the pirates of the box offices and the panders of the stage is wholesale treatment to be sure, say they. But what can be done to develop enough endurable drama to fill the eighty odd theatres which will be bidding for business within a month? burg.

finest hotel. Guests at the Biltmore, Commodore, and other hostilities became alarmed as the fire engines rushed by and many rushed from their rooms into the lobbies scantily clad.

The smoke caused by the explosions drifted up to the bright light district at Forty-second and Broadway.

For half an hour the theatrical district was a mass of smoke and it was only with difficulty that men and women were able to cross the streets.

It was at first reported that several lives had been lost but a checkup at midnight showed that no one was dead but that three were so seriously injured that they might not recover.

DOLE BIPLANE FORCED DOWN NEAR MODESTO

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 5.—The biplane piloted by John Auggy Pedlar of Flint, Mich., and carrying Miss Mildred Doran, "the flying schoolma'am," one of the two women entrants in the Hawaii air contest, was being eagerly looked for early last night at both the San Francisco and Oakland airports.

The ship is the plane being piloted by John Auggy Pedlar, Flint, Mich., aviator, and carrying besides the "flying schoolma'am," Manley Lawling, San Diego aerographer who is to navigate the plane on its Honolulu hop.

The plane hopped off from Long Beach, just south of Los Angeles, at 11:50 yesterday morning.

FEAR ACCIDENT
At 8 o'clock last night it had not been sighted at either the Oakland or San Francisco landing fields. The plane should easily have traveled the less than 400 miles between Long Beach and San Francisco by that time, provided Pedlar chose the airline or valley course in his northward flight.

It was pointed out, however, that the flyer might have taken a course quite a distance out at sea in order to give Lawling a chance to try out his navigating instruments over the ocean. This theory was strengthened when Bakersfield and Fresno, on the direct route between the south and here, reported shortly before 6 o'clock that they had not sighted the Pedlar plane.

SAN DIEGO HOPOFF
The big Buhl "Airsedan" biplane in which Pedlar, Miss Doran and Lawling intend to start in the Dole race, hopped off from Rockwell field, San Diego, at 7:55 o'clock yesterday morning, on its trip to the San Francisco bay region. It had been in San Diego for many days, undergoing final tests, having its instruments adjusted, and having navigating lights installed to put the ship in final readiness for the Dole hopoff. Pedlar piloted the plane on the take-off from Rockwell field.

Shortly after 10 o'clock the plane reached Long Beach, where it landed for two hours' stop. At 11:50 Pedlar lifted it into the air again on its hop to the bay region.

The Pedlar-Miss Doran plane was the third entry in the Dole sweepstakes, the official blank and entry fee having been received.

OIL DISCOVERED IN "WELL" AT UTILITY TUNNEL

Oil was discovered yesterday in the Claremont tunnel, which is being constructed under the Alameda-Contra Costa county hills by the East Bay Municipal Utility district.

The "well" contained but eight gallons of the black gold and was characterized by Arthur P. Davis, chief engineer and general manager, as a pocket rather than a gusher.

Discovery was made by workmen, who, in blasting in the usual manner in the Orinda end of the bore, noticed the oil running from a hole in the roof of the tunnel. Marston Campbell, the division engineer in charge of the job, made an investigation, which resulted in his collecting about eight gallons of the oil, which he took to the office of the utility district and turned over to Davis.

The chief engineer pronounced the stuff to be of high quality, with an odor like real gasoline, and declared it probably had condensed in the pocket after fumes from some larger body had been forced or had leaked through fissures in the rocks. Davis said the recent explosion of gas in the tunnel was another indication of the possible presence of a body of oil, possibly at a remote distance or at great depth.

newspaperman, and an adjutant in the 143d Field Artillery, is also attending the camp at Del Monte.

General Mittelstaedt also has received word that a number of other celebrities in the civil and military life of the state, including Lieutenant-Governor Burton Pitts and Major General John L. Hines, commanding general of the Ninth Corps Area, with headquarters at the Presidio, San Francisco, will be present for Tuesday's special program.

The review is scheduled to begin at 2 p.m. and will be opened to the general public.

This morning will be devoted to a field inspection during which all troops at the encampment will make a short march with full field equipment. Following the march a rigid inspection will be conducted by Major General David P. Barrows, commanding general of the 40th Division, and Colonel Edgar A. Sirmeyer, regular army officer in charge of the National Guard affairs for the Ninth Corps Area.

Target practice by the 143d Field Artillery, commanded by Colonel M. G. Randol and composed of units and batteries from Oakland, Sacramento, Stockton, Livermore and Lodi began Thursday, August 4.

chest and knocking him to the ground. He then jumped from the machine without waiting to draw his own revolver.

A struggle for the gun then followed, ending with Laird gaining possession of the weapon. Cunningham attempted to flee but was stopped by a bullet in the leg.

Laird, who was severely cut about the face, arms and legs as a result of the struggle in the gravel of the roadway, loaded Cunningham into the car and drove him to the Berkeley Emergency hospital where both men were treated. He then took his prisoner to Martinez.

The bandit admitted the attempted robbery when he was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Frank Glass. He refused to speak about his past other than to say that he had arrived from the east a few days ago and had been working as a laborer. He declared that he would plead guilty to the charge and "take his jolt." His bail was fixed at $3,000.

Descriptions given the local police of the man who held up T. Muth, of Oakland, several days ago near the scene of the attempted robbery yesterday and another victim robbed several days previous to that, tally largely with the appearance of Cunningham. He will be quizzed by authorities in regard to these robberies.
